

RESEARCH INTERNSHIP FOR UNDERGRADUATE STUDENTS

CENTER FOR RESEARCH IN SOCIAL COMPLEXITY

- 1. Responsible of the internship: José Antonio Muñoz Reyes
- 2. Type of internship: Face to Face
- 3. Knowledge area: Undergraduate student
- 4. Number of students required: 1
- 5. Duration: 6 months
- 6. Research Project Name: Psychobiological bases of social conflict
- 7. Description of the internship: This research project is part of a line of work that looks into the way in which the presence of an intergroup social conflict modifies the expression of cooperative and aggressive behavior depending on the individual differences that the conflict participants have at a psychobiological level.
- 8. Responsibilities: The student will perform as part of the team of work focusing on work directed towards experimental data collection. The student must carry out measurement of variables, programming and game software application, learning psychological analysis techniques and morphometrics, etc.
- 9. Language requirements: Advanced English or Spanish
- 10. Preferred knowledge and skills: Psicología, Biología, Sociología, etc.

12. Documents to present:

- CV
- Recommendation Letter
- Letter describing their Interest in joining the lab
- Copy of passport or identity card
- Nomination Letter from your home university
- Transcript of Records